

Registration information for Scholastic Journalism Day
Tuesday, April 5, 2011 | University of Missouri in Columbia

A detailed campus map can be found at <http://map.missouri.edu>.

Schedule: J-Day registration desk opens at 8 until 8:45am in Jesse Hall Auditorium lobby. The opening, welcomes, introductions, and keynote speaker will start around 8:45 until 9:45am. AT that time, the students will be dismissed to the different breakout sessions which will be in classroom buildings close to Jesse Hall on campus. The breakout sessions are from 10 to 11:30am - this time frame is broken into two 40 minute sessions - 10-10:40am and 10:50-11:30am. Lunch is on your own. Everyone reconvenes at Jesse Hall Auditorium at 1:00pm for the awards presentation. The day is dismissed around 2:30pm.

Breakout sessions: There are 19 breakout sessions offered on Tuesday morning. Of the 16 sessions, 14 are offered twice with the second session a repeat of the first session. The other 2 sessions are offered the whole time block of 10-11:30am.

On the registration form, please provide numbers of students for the classes. Please understand that classroom space is limited. We have to take what free classroom space MU grants us around the current, Spring Semester classes. Due to popularity, some classes may be over capacity and some may not be full. Since this is the case, when your students arrive at the classrooms, they may find that they have to sit on the floor or against the wall. Inform your students that if the classroom is full, to come back to the second, repeated session. The students are not bound to the original registration submitted, they can move to another class if they desire.

Write Off does not have classroom size limits. Pre-registration is required before the opening session and keynote speaker start at 8:45am. That registration desk will be open when you arrive between 8 and 8:45am.

The General Write Off session is an onsite competition with multiple categories. For Write Off, as many students as you want to put in each category can compete from your school. They write an article, cartoon, feature, review, editorial, etc. based on the morning keynote speaker's presentation. There is a time limit. Onsite judges will judge the entries. The winners are announced that afternoon.

The other sessions are simply classes that your students can attend to learn more information. If the first section is full when your students arrive then they should go to another option and come back for the second, repeated session. The classrooms are limited in size and seating, so tell your students to be flexible in their plans.

Lunch is on your own. A small map of restaurants close to MU's campus will be available onsite. Your students will find many restaurants available for lunch.

MIPA meeting: At 11:45am until 12:45pm, the advisers have an MIPA meeting. It will be held at the Heidelberg Restaurant at 410 S 9th Street, across the street from campus. Food can be ordered off the menu.

Optional J-School Tour: Contact Dolores Obregon at 573-882-1908 for arrangements. Tours are only available between 10 and 11:30am.
